

Notes on Contributors

Taufik Adnan Amal is a lecturer in the Shari'ah Faculty at UIN (formerly known as IAIN) Alauddin Makassar. He is a graduate of the Sharia Faculty, UIN Sunan Kalijaga, Yogyakarta. He was a member of al-Jamiah, a recognised discussion group in Yogyakarta, and translated the controversial work by Qamaruddin Khan Tentang Teori Politik Islam (1987). His published works include Hukum Islam dan Tantangan Modernitas: Studi tentang Pemikiran Keagamaan Fazlur Rahman; Sayyid Akhmad Khan dan Modernisme Islam; Memahami al-Quran Secara Kontekstual dan Tekstual; and Tafsir Kontekstual Suatu Kerangka Konseptual, co-authored with Samsu Rizal Panggabean.

Muhammadiyah Amin is a professor in the Faculty of Sharia, UIN Alauddin Makassar. Born in 1963, he obtained his MA (1996) from IAIN Jakarta (2003). He received his doctorate from UIN Syarif Hidayatullah Jakarta in 2003. He is also closely involved in the Islamic Welfare Foundation (Makassar). He has edited many books, among them Ulumul Hadits I – X; Jalan Lurus Menuju Hati Sejahtera: Surat al-Fatihah; KH. Ali Yafie; and Jati Diri Tempaan Fiqih. His other published research includes Malu dalam Perspektif Hadits Nabi: Kajian Hadits Tematik (1996); Takwa dan Indikatornya dalam al-Qur'an (1997); Metode Penyelesaian Hadits-hadits Nabi yang Tampak Bertentangan Menurut Syafi'i (1999); and Penerapan Metodologi Tafsir Maudhu'i (2001).

Azyumardi Azra is Professor of History and Rector of UIN Syarif Hidayatullah, Jakarta. Born in 1955, he received both his MA and Ph.D. from Columbia University. He is also on the board of the Indonesian History Society (Masyarakat Sejarah Indonesia) and the Indonesian Association for Social Sciences Researchers (Himpunan Indonesia untuk Peneliti Ilmu-Ilmu Sosial). He has published several books, as well as articles in national and international journals. One of his books is Jaringan Ulama Timur Tengah dan Kepulauan Nusantara abad 17-18: Masalah Akar-akar Pembaruan Pemikiran Islam di Indonesia Modernisme hingga Post-modernisme.

Anthony H. Johns completed a degree in Arabic and Malay at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London; his Ph.D. thesis was on Sufism in the Malay world (1954). After four years in Indonesia he was appointed to the Australian National University in Canberra where he taught Arabic and Islamic Studies for many years. In the course of his distinguished career he has held visiting appointments in Jerusalem, Toronto, Tokyo and Oxford, and spent many research periods in Cairo. He has published numerous major papers in journals and chapters in books, on various aspects of the Qur'an and Qur'anic exegesis, and on vernacularisation of the foundation texts of Islam in Indonesia. Now Emeritus Professor, he is Visiting Fellow in the Division of Pacific and Asian History of the Research School of Asian and Pacific Studies at the Australian National University.

Kusmana is a lecturer at UIN Syarif Hidayatullah, Jakarta. He pursued his MA (2000) at the Institute of Islamic Studies, McGill University, Canada. Some of his works on Qur'anic studies include Abul A'la Mawdudi on Qur'anic Interpretation: A Study on His Biography and Method of Qur'anic Interpretation; Shafi'i's Theory of Naskh and its Influence on the 'Ulum al-Qur'an; Rahardjo's Method of Qur'anic Interpretation; and 'Tabari, Zamakhshari and Tabarsi on Naskh in the Quran' in Mimbar Agama dan Budaya, December 2000.

Ratno Lukito is a lecturer at UIN Sunan Kalijaga, Yogyakarta. He is also very closely involved in a non-government organisation that focuses on research on culture and religion. He obtained his MA in Islamic Studies from McGill University, Canada. His thesis was published in Indonesian as Pergumulan Antara Hukum Islam dan Adat di Indonesia (1998), and an English version was published by Logos, Jakarta in 2001. Some of his essays on Islamic law in Indonesia have appeared in Studia Islamika: Indonesian Journal for Islamic Studies.

Nurcholish Madjid is Rector of Paramadina Mulya University and Chairman of the Paramadina Foundation. He graduated from the State Institute for Islamic Studies UIN (formerly known as IAIN) Syarif Hidayatullah Jakarta, Faculty of Arabic Language and Culture in 1968 and obtained his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1984. He has published many books, including Tradisi Islam Peran dan Fungsinya dalam Pembangunan di Indonesia; Dialog Keterbukaan Artikulasi Nilai Islam dalam Wacana Sosial Politik Kontemporer (1998) and Cita-cita Politik Islam Era Reformasi (1999). Some of his essays have appeared in edited volumes.

Lies Marcoes-Natsir is a consultant on Islam, gender and civil society for The Asia Foundation, Jakarta, Indonesia. She holds a BA in Comparative Religion from the Institut Agama Islam Negeri (UIN) and an MA in Medical Anthropology from the University of Amsterdam. Her research interests include women and Islam in Indonesia, Women's Rights in Indonesia, and gender and poverty in Indonesia. Her publications include 'Learning from Islam: Advocacy of Women's Reproductive rights in Indonesian Pesantren' in The Journal of Reproductive Health Matters (1997).

Ro'fah Mudzakir is a lecturer at UIN Sunan Kalijaga, Yogyakarta. She completed her MA in Islamic Studies at McGill University, Canada in 2000. She is currently a consultant at the Graduate Studies' Library of UIN Sunan Kalijaga, Yogyakarta. Her published works include 'Women and the Muhammadiyah Movement: A Case Study of Aisyyah, an Indonesian Women's Organization' in Good Governance: A Workable Solution for Indonesia? (2000); The Ijtihad Method of Muhammad Abduh and Muhammadiyah: A Comparative Study (1996); and A Study of 'Aisyyah: An Indonesian Muslim Women's Organization (1998).

Samsu Rizal Panggabean is a lecturer in the Faculty of Social Sciences, Gadjah Mada University, and a researcher at the Centre for Security and Peace Studies, Gadjah Mada University. He graduated from both the Faculty of Shari'a, UIN Sunan Kalijaga, Yogyakarta, and the Faculty of Social and Political Science, Gadjah Mada University. His published works include Ekonomi Politik dan Sufisme di Pakistan and Tafsir Kontekstual: Suatu Kerangka Konseptual, co-authored with Taufik Adnan Amal. His essays have appeared in Kedaulatan Rakyat, Tebu Ireng Magazine and Suara Muhammadiyah.

Yusuf Rahman is a lecturer at UIN Syarif Hidayatullah, Jakarta. He obtained his MA (1995) and Ph.D. (2001) from the Institute of Islamic Studies, McGill University, Canada. He has published a number of articles in the field of Qur'anic studies in various journals, with a recent article appearing in Literary Structures of Religious Meaning in the Qur'an (2000). His recent research is in the field of Qur'anic studies.

Abdullah Saeed is Sultan of Oman Professor of Arab and Islamic Studies and the Director of the Centre for the Study of Contemporary Islam at the University of Melbourne. In 1992 he completed his Ph.D. in Islamic Studies at the University of Melbourne. His research interests include modern Qur'anic hermeneutics, Islam and modernity, religious pluralism and human rights, Islamic law reform, Islamic banking and finance and Islam in Australia. His major publications include Interpreting the Qur'an: Towards a Contemporary Approach (2005); Freedom of Religion, Apostasy and Islam (co-authored 2004); Islam in Australia (2003); Muslim Communities in Australia (co-edited 2001) and Islamic Banking and Interest (1996).

Milhan Yusuf is a lecturer at UIN, North Sumatra. He graduated from UIN, North Sumatra in 1987 and obtained his MA from McGill University, Montreal, Canada in 1995. He is the chief of the al-Washliyah Cadere Development Council for North Sumatra, deputy-secretary of the board of the Indonesian Malaya Culture Council and an editor of Miqat magazine. His works include Hamka's Method in Interpreting Legal Verses: A Study of His Tafsir al-Azhar, Ghazali's Concept of Repentance, and Kepemimpinan Wanita Menurut Al-Quran.